10. Aims of the Programme

The educational and formational aims of the programme have been designed with a view to the complex cultural contexts in which Christian ministry must take place and the kinds of people needed for a variety of ministry roles. Specifically, these programme aims are intended to:

- Meet the needs of candidates for Christian ministry in various forms who have already studied theology to degree level;
- Support the continuing professional development of those who are already serving in ministry;
- Give those who are considering further study at a higher academic level (including potential theological educators) the opportunity to develop their skills.

More generally, and in common with the College's undergraduate provision, the programme aims to foster in students a growing love for and knowledge of the Triune God; a growing love for Jesus Christ and his Gospel message; a growing love for Christ's church; a growing concern for all kinds of people; and a growing concern for personal holiness. As such, and with a view to postgraduate students in particular, the programme aims to:

1. Provide students with an appropriate range of biblical, theological, pastoral and/or cross-cultural studies at the postgraduate level, which are at, or informed by, research at the forefront of those fields of study;
2. Enable students to focus in appropriate depth and with appropriate academic rigour on particular aspects of biblical, theological, pastoral and/or cross-cultural studies in which they have a prior interest; or enable students to explore new areas within the discipline, building on their prior knowledge and experience;
3. Provide opportunity for students to reflect upon and integrate their prior theological studies and their experience of Christian ministry and professional practice in the process of engaging critically with new learnings, and to model this in the way in which teaching and learning are provided;
4. Strengthen and sharpen students' intellectual and practical skills and develop in them the virtues of the Christian theologian in order that they should be more effective in Christian ministry, and in dealing with the complex and sometimes fast-moving cultural and social contexts in which they will serve;
5. Develop students as empathetic learners who are able to develop and articulate their own views with integrity and humility whilst listening to, understanding and engaging with the views of others in a manner which is sensitive, generous and gracious;
6. Develop students as lifelong, reflective theological learners and equip them to harness and apply the fruits of theological study in their diverse ministries;
7. Foster in students the resilience, flexibility and maturity required to serve across a wide range of ministry contexts and situations, and to adapt to the demands of contemporary ministry in a rapidly-changing world;
8. (Where desired) provide an opportunity for sustained reflection on and engagement with a theological or ministerial topic through an independent research project, along with (where relevant) an opportunity to identify and explore any ethical issues raised by that research.

11. Programme Outcomes
A. Knowledge and Understanding On completion of this programme the successful student will have: [A1] An advanced and thorough understanding of parts of Scripture, their relation to the whole, and how to interpret them; [A2] An advanced understanding of the interconnectedness of the various elements within the disciplines of theology; [A3] A thorough understanding of the methodological, philosophical and hermeneutical models and assumptions used in the study of theology; [A4] The knowledge and understanding required to engage and interact at a high level with the material/subjects studied, seen in the ability to reflect critically on their own particular standpoint/pre-suppositions and to understand the methodological and hermeneutical issues involved.	Teaching/Learning Methods Students may gain knowledge and understanding through some of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Lectures: giving overall perspective; exemplary discussions of a topic; models for considering and assessing different views of a subject; and explanations of complicated material; • Interaction in the form of questions, discussion, dialogue and argument: demonstrating how to engage with a topic at a high academic level and engage charitably with different perspectives; • Guided independent reading, some of which is subsequently discussed in class: providing an opportunity to develop critical understanding and encouraging independent exploration; • Discussion of primary and secondary texts: developing an ability to engage critically and sensitively with texts and authors from different times, places and theological standpoints; • Student-led seminars with questions and discussion: affording an opportunity to present and rigorously defend a particular standpoint; • Practical exercises and simulations, problem analysis, case studies and role play: fostering an understanding of the nuances and complexities involved in particular subject areas; • Translation and exegetical exercises in class: developing greater technical facility in use of the biblical languages (where desired); • Appropriate use of technology and e-learning, such as language software, keeping a blog etc.; • Fieldwork and study trips; • Organising an event and reflecting on it; • Individual written (and at times oral) feedback on written work; • The formative dimension of assessment. Assessment Methods Students' knowledge and understanding are assessed by a combination of unseen written exams; assessed coursework in the form of essays, assignments, student-led seminars/presentations, and book reviews; exegetical work; language tests/translation; fieldwork reports; group work; and (where desired) independent research.

B. Skills On completion of this programme the successful student will be able to: [B1] Critically and reflectively engage with advanced scholarship in the theological disciplines, assessing views and theories with charity, fairness and sensitivity and, where appropriate, proposing alternatives; [B2] Construct and articulate an integrative, coherent, well-informed and sustained argument, and develop original application of knowledge and understanding into new areas and/or with a view to addressing new problems; [B3] Communicate clearly, sensitively, engagingly and with integrity to specialist and non-specialist audiences alike, using an appropriate range of media and appropriate forms of communication for the intended audience; [B4] Take responsibility for identifying and learning new skills as part of a commitment to lifelong learning, and take initiative in planning and implementing tasks which will advance their knowledge and understanding in both independent and inter-dependent ways.	Teaching/Learning Methods Students learn cognitive and practical skills through the teaching and learning methods outlined above. This includes guided independent reading; student-led seminars/presentations with questions and discussion; practical exercises/simulations; problem analysis; class reading and discussion of primary and secondary texts; language work/translation; role play; and discussion of key issues. Growing originality in the application of knowledge is modelled by the Faculty; forms a key dimension in class discussions and debates; is cultivated in simulations, practical exercises and problem analysis; and constitutes a major component of the formative objectives of assessment. Individual feedback given on class contributions and assessed work also has an important role to play here. With regard to (optional) research project work, interested students receive training in research skills and methodologies and one-on-one tutorial supervision, along with (where relevant) training in the principles of ethical research. Assessment Methods The various assessment methods employed (see ‘Knowledge and Understanding’ above) all place great emphasis, as shown in the assessment criteria, on the learner’s ability to demonstrate these cognitive and practical skills. Both written pieces (e.g., essays, written examinations) and oral presentations (e.g., student-led seminars, group activities, a teaching session for a non-specialist audience) provide a vehicle for the demonstration of these skills. Where relevant, a student’s grasp of the ethical dimensions of research is assessed through an ethical clearance procedure.

12. Programme Structure (Levels, Modules, Credits and Progression Requirements)
12.1 Overall Structure of the Programme
The PGCert is a postgraduate qualification of 60 credits which is normally completed over one or two academic years. If the programme is to be completed in one year (Pathway A, which for registration purposes is considered to be full-time mode), then the maximum period of registration will be two academic years of two semesters each; if the programme is to be completed in two years (Pathway B, which for registration purposes is considered to be part time mode), then the maximum period of registration will be four academic years of two semesters each plus the intervening summer periods. The maximum length durations are designed to allow for possible periods of interruption of study and/or re-assessment and/or deferred assessment.

Required	PGCert	PGDip	MA
Normal length of registration (FT/Pathway A)	1 year	1 year	12 months
Normal length of registration (PT/Pathway B)	2 years	2 years	24 months
Maximum length of registration (FT/Pathway A)	2 years	24 months	24 months
Maximum length of registration (PT/Pathway B)	4 years	48 months	48 months

The PGCert comprises one core module in the foundational area of hermeneutics and epistemology (BD6.4) along with the opportunity to study one further topic in depth (through a taught module) or undertake an independent research project instead (RD6.3). If a taught module is chosen, then it must be at the 'Specialist Master's Level' (coded 6.x): see 12.2 below.

All postgraduate students are expected (although not formally required) to attend a series of regular Postgraduate Research Seminars (non-credit bearing) throughout their period of registration.

CREDITS	COMPULSORY MODULES	OPTIONAL MODULES
		Research	Other
60 credits at Level 7	BD6.4: 30 credits	RD6.3: 30 credits	OR One 6.x taught module: 30 credits

Full-Time and Part-Time Credit Loads

A full-time credit load will normally comprise 60 credits a year, and a part-time load will normally comprise 30 credits a year.

Summer Intensives

At Levels 4-6, the College aims to offer some of its optional modules through a rolling programme of Summer Intensives. However, modules are not available in intensive format at Level 7: as such, while a PGCert student on Pathway B may choose to audit modules in intensive format during the intervening summer period (up to the value of 20 credits), these will necessarily be at Levels 4, 5 or 6 and will not contribute to the classification of their PGCert.

Classification

This award can be marked Fail or Pass. Students are awarded a Pass on a PGCert Theology once they have attained grade 12 or better in modules worth 60 credits at Level 7, including the required compulsory module (BD6.4).

Exit Points and Extension of Study

For a student registered on the PGCert, there is no prior exit point at which they can gain an award. If a student decides to exit the College at a point before they have attained all the requirements for the PGCert, any credits gained may be used towards future programmes under the national Credit Accumulation & Transfer Scheme (CATS): the student will receive confirmation of the credit passed.

The PGCert is closely related both to the PGDip Theology (120 credits) and to the MA Theology (180 credits): a PGDip or MA student who passes two taught Specialist Master’s-Level modules (60 credits), including the core module BD6.4, but who does not meet the remaining programme requirements for the PGDip or the MA may be awarded a PGCert as an exit qualification. Conversely, on application to the Admissions Office, a PGCert student may be allowed to ‘top-up’ to registration for the PGDip or the MA Theology. There are strict deadlines for such an application, in particular for the MA, since a successful student needs to meet timing requirements for preparation of the MA dissertation package.

Auditing

Students are permitted to audit individual modules (i.e., to study, but not for credit) alongside the compulsory and optional modules that they are studying for credit as part of their programme. Postgraduate students (including students on the PGCert) may audit at no extra charge up to two additional modules, regardless of credit rating or level, over the duration of their programme, i.e., this would normally mean two modules in one year for Pathway A students and one module per year for Pathway B students. Any modules taken for audit above the limit of two will be charged at the internal auditing rate (details available from the Admissions Office). For postgraduate students, auditing modules is subject to the approval of their Personal Tutor or the Director of Postgraduate Studies, as appropriate.

12.3 Non-Compensatable Modules

All modules for the PGCert are non-compensatable.

13. Information about Assessment Regulations

Please refer to the Progression Requirements listed above (Section 12.2), to the information provided in the Module Narratives and their associated Module Assessment Packages, and also to the assessment regulations which are included in the following:

- The Regulations & Procedures Handbook
- Guidelines on Presenting your Essay/Assignment

14. Placement Opportunities, Requirements and Support (if applicable)

Not normally applicable. A weekly church placement module may be taken as an optional additional module by independent postgraduate students, for whom placements are not part of the programme. Where this is agreed, there will be no additional charge for taking it.

15. Future Careers / Progression

All of the College's programmes are vocational; that is, they are intended to equip students with the necessary knowledge, skills, experience, attitudes and characteristics for Christian ministry of various types (for example church leadership, pastoral ministry, women's ministry, cross-cultural work and youth work). The College's postgraduate programmes are also intended to support students in progressing towards academic teaching and research, and/or to provide an element of continuing personal/professional development. In this context, the PGCert is particularly designed to serve:

- Students with prior study in Theology who would like to extend their knowledge before entering the pastorate, or who are considering further study (including at the doctoral level) and would like to experience postgraduate-level work before committing themselves to a larger programme;
- Graduates who are already in ministry and would like to undertake a short postgraduate qualification as a form of continuing personal/professional development.

During their programme, all postgraduate students will take part in regular Personal Development Planning with their Personal Tutor or another designated member of Faculty. Where relevant, placements in local church settings allow students to 'network' with possible future employers, and with those who are involved in the relevant work field.

16. Particular Support for Learning (if applicable)

- Extensive theological library (24-hour access to over 50,000 volumes);
- Access to an increasing range of e-resources (e.g., online access to a range of e-books and electronic journals, including the EBSCO database) across all programmes;
- Information literacy skills training and support for all students, provided by the Librarian;
- 24-hour access to IT resources and services including email, internet access/WiFi, and the College's Virtual Learning Environment (VLE);
- Provision for students with particular support needs (e.g., English not first language, specific learning difficulties or disabilities): see the Regulations & Procedures Handbook for details;

- Individual tuition and Personal Development Planning with Personal Tutors (for full-time students) or with another designated member of the Faculty (for part-time students);
- Induction to College and academic life in 'Welcome Week': this includes postgraduate habits and skills, research methods and aspects of research ethics;
- A programme of Learning Skills sessions throughout the academic year, open to all students and including bespoke sessions for postgraduate students (especially on postgraduate research);
- Regular Postgraduate Research Seminars (attendance is expected but not formally required);
- (Where relevant) Training in research skills and methodologies, one-to-one independent research project supervisions, and guidance in making an application to the Research Ethics Committee.

Appendix B1: Progressive Marking Scheme for Written Coursework and Examinations at Level 7

The Structure of the Mark Scheme:

- The scheme covers different aspects of a piece of work, from reading and research, through argumentation to presentational standards. Key criteria include: organisation; method; relevance; coverage of data; coverage of concepts; coverage of views; argumentation; independent judgement; writing style; presentation and apparatus.

The Use of the Mark Scheme:

- This scheme will be used in marking both written coursework and written examinations in all 5.x and 6.x modules, except for dissertations and for modules or part-modules which consist of language work. For dissertations it is used in conjunction with the dissertation mark sheet. Obviously not all of the criteria will be applicable to both the coursework and examination elements of assessment. Apparatus, for example, is not assessed in examinations.
- The mark scheme is to serve as an agreed guide for markers, and will be applied at the discretion of markers in the light of judgements made about suitable expectations for a particular piece of work. In some coursework, for example, there may be much less taught material or reading available than in others, and the scheme is intended to allow markers the flexibility to recognize such differing expectations. It is intended to guide marking, not to hold it to ransom. In particular, a marker will exercise his/her discretion in determining the weight between the criteria evident in a particular piece of work for determining the final mark.
- The criteria will be used cumulatively, so that a Level 7 piece of work will be required to meet the relevant positive criteria for work done at Levels 6.

Use of Grade Point 15:

This mark scheme does not include reference to grade point 15, because this is the mark given where work is not submitted.

1-3 – Excellent Work submitted is excellent, demonstrating high levels of competence across a range of criteria and leaving very little or no room for improvement	4-6 – Very Good Work submitted is very good but lacks characteristics of excellent work or across a range of criteria still leaves room for improvement	7-9 – Good Work submitted is good but there is significant room for improvement across a range of criteria	10-12 – Satisfactory Work submitted is acceptable (it attains threshold standard) but it is either seriously defective in one or two respects or minimally acceptable across a range of criteria	13-14 – Fail Work is submitted but is characterised by unacceptably low standards.
